Oregon War Claims.

From the Jacksonville [illegible]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27th, 1861.

To WM. [illegible], Esq.:

Dear Sir:—Since I wrote you on the 21st inst., I have learned some items in regard to scrip, which will be of interest to you and the holders of it in Oregon. The Department has at last made an issue of Bonds. $16,000 in these claims were issued on the 27th inst., upon the claims of Mr. Clinton and son, formerly residents of Jackson county. The bonds are in $50, $100, and $500 amounts, and all odd sums less than $50, will be paid in Treasury warrants. Thus, $5,792 50 will be paid in this way:

Seven Bonds of $500 each............$3,500
Two " 100 " 200
One bond of 50 " 50
Treasury warrant to balance $12 50

The Secretary of the Treasury and Comptrollers have made two decisions which act very prejudicially to holders of scrip: 1st. That interest upon no claim shall begin to count until July 1st, 1861. As the Bill passed March 2d, this makes a loss of four months interest to the scrip holders, which on the whole debt as allowed, amounts to $80,000. 2d. All claims shall begin to draw interest from the 1st of July or the 1st of January next after the date of filing the respective claims in the Third Auditor's office. By this ruling, all our claims which are filed any day after July 1st, 1861, and up to December 1st, 1861, will draw interest only from January 1st, 1862, and so of subsequent years. Scrip holders will therefore perceive the necessity of forwarding their claims at once, to be filed before December 1st, 1861, or they will not get interest counted upon them before July 1st, 1862.

Again the poor volunteers are made to suffer by a further reduction of allowance granted them. The Third Auditor now claims to have found an error in the schedule of allowance as established in his Report, and the monthly pay of a private is to be only $11, and commutation for clothing, $3,82—making the pay in all per month, $14,82!! Horses are allowed 40 cents per day for use and risk, and in case of loss, the appraised cash value (not exceeding in any case $200) may be obtained. This class of claims (lost horses) must be proved up and made out under the provisions of an Act of Congress of 1849.—A form of declarations or statement, embracing the oath of claimant and the oath of the captain or some other officer of the company, must be obtained, stating particulars in accordance with the provisions of the law.

If any scrip holders have forwarded their scrip direct to the Third Auditor, without the proper letter of instruction, I can say to them that they had better get some attorney to see to it. For a large amount of scrip thus sent now lies in the office, and the officer wants some one to see to it. It has been forwarded in all conceivable shapes, and is often so mixed up with powers of attorney and transfers, that it is difficult to tell who is the assumed owner. The powers of attorney which you have been using are as good as any. I have no alteration to suggest.

It is yet undecided whether bonds will in any case issue in the name of an assignee or holder of scrip. My opinion now is, (from what I have been able to gather from talking with the Third Auditor and Comptroller) that they will in all cases be issued in the name of the original claimant. But I am not without a little hope that it may be otherwise. The question will in all probability be decided next week, and I am diligently at work, trying (with what little of ability I am able to bring to the matter) to effect a favorable decision for the holders by purchase or assignment. In the event that the decision shall be to issue all bonds in the name of original claimants thousands will be lost to the people of Oregon, and to get these bonds will have to be retained a long time to find the parties, [illegible] that an assignment of the bonds can be effected.

There is another arbitrary [illegible] made by the Secretary of the Treasury under the discretion given him by the Bill. [illegible] the $500 bonds he provides for interest to be paid semi-annually, while upon the $50 and $100 [illegible] he provides for interest to be paid only annually. This is a [illegible] the large scrip holder, which [illegible] passing strange, [illegible] all for.

[illegible] venture even a [illegible] as to how long it will take the Department to issue bonds upon the scrip already filed; but if I judge the future action by the past, you may expect to see some of these bonds in six or eight months. Mr. Clinton was the first person who filed his claims in the Third Auditor's office, and he has been hard at work about six months to get the bonds.

Very truly yours, E. M. BARNUM.

[We do not know how the above looks to others after reading the above, but we judge it very much points out the [illegible] of employing the writer to attend to their scrip.]

TUESDAY MORNING, NOV. 5, 1861.

President's Power over Traitors and Traitor Presses.

The Advertiser characterizes a movement to suppress his treasonable sheet, as "ineffable meanness." Harder words than these were used by the editors of other treasonable sheets suppressed by the authorities in the Eastern States. We have no wish now to argue in favor of the power of Government to suppress treason in any form. The power now claimed by it in relation to the press has long been exercised, and with the concurrence of such papers as the Advertiser. The idea that the Government are required to circulate papers designed for its destruction, could never find place in any brain which does not belong to a traitor.

We copy below an article from the Hartford Courant which presents the doctrines in this case in a nut-shell:

Our National Constitution, Art. 2, Sec. 1, says: 'The Executive power shall be vested in a President of the United States of America.' After subdivisions comes Sec. 2, which declares: 'The President shall be Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy of the United States, and of the Militia of the several States, when called into the actual service of the United States.' This last was a grant of general jurisdiction over the subject of military affairs, and of all things pertaining to them. The Supreme Court of the United States have held that the President, by virtue of this power, could supersede foreign law in conquered countries, and govern by his officers, administering a new and substituted form of Government, founded on his martial and naval orders, and that the President and his officers were not liable to an action for establishing and carrying out such military Government, as such acts were official and constitutional. The court has also held, that where a discretionary power, as in this case, is conferred on the President, his decision is final, and no court, by habeas corpus or otherwise, can review it or interfere with it. This power includes the right to arrest, try by court martial, and punish all who interfere with the safety of the army or navy, by arms, or who imperil the success of our arms, or give aid and comfort to armed traitors, by newspaper publications or otherwise. The discretion of the President alone must determine where and how he will exercise this high authority, with a view to defend our Republic from foreign and domestic foes. The Constitution confers the power for the defense and safety of the nation.

An act was passed at the extra session of Congress to punish, by fine and imprisonment, a conspiracy to promote any act of treason. This makes every editor who manages his paper so as to aid the rebellion a criminal. If the President shall judge this to be the aim of any publication, he may by martial order suppress it, and arrest the editor. This power ought instantly to crush out traitor presses, and to arrest, imprison, and punish by court martial, every man or woman who shall in any manner give aid and comfort to the Jeff. Davis rebellion.

The authorities sustaining these doctrines, and showing this view of the President's martial power, will be found in Howard's U. S. Rep., 7th, 9th and 10th, and in [illegible] Statutes, Ch. 1, [illegible], 5, and 13.

Last Telegraphic Items.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Evidence that the falling back of the rebels at Fairfax was sudden and unexpected, is furnished in the fact that they set up telegraph poles, and wires stretched from Fairfax to Fall's Church, and only completed the work on the Thursday preceding the Sunday when our troops advanced. They removed the wires but had not time to remove the poles.

It is stated that Johnson and Beauregard intend to make no stand this side of Centreville, on the heights of which, however, if followed, they will oppose the Union forces for a while, but when pressed would retreat to their old position at Bull Run.

ST. LOUIS, October 25th.—There was a battle fought at Greenville, Wayne county, Mo., yesterday. Jeff. Thompson was whipped.—He had [illegible] killed and 300 taken prisoners.

The Grand Jury of Westchester, New York, presented some treasonable sheets, which they believed should be suppressed, as nuisances. They said, "The legal power to suppress a journal upholding those who are striving by force of arms to subvert the government is as unquestionable as the right to suppress obscene publications dangerous to the decency and good morals of the community."

Progress of the Great Rebellion.

[illegible], Oct. [illegible] P. M., 1861.

[illegible], Ill., Oct. [illegible] [illegible] Sigel's [illegible] on Sunday, Oct. 27th; the remaining division was expected the day following.

It is said Price will make a stand at Sarcoxie, having been reinforced by Johnson of California infamy.

Fremont will push on South as speedily as possible, and give battle.

Lane captured a transportation train of the enemy, in Bates county, a few days ago, and several prisoners.

Gen. Scott, it is reported, will resign his command in the army, in a few days, on account of bodily infirmity.

Richmond papers contain accounts of the battle near Leesburg. They say they had fifteen regiments on the ground, but only a part were engaged. They claim a decisive victory, with 400 prisoners, 4 pieces of artillery, 2 flags, and several hundred muskets. They admit a loss of 300. There are no 50,000 rebels at Leesburg.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—Thos. Quigley, David Williams, and Edward Rodman, were convicted of piracy last evening.

Commodore Dupont's private Secretary publishes a card through his brother-in-law, saying it is false that he had absconded with the sealed orders of the Great Naval Expedition.

The great fleet sailed this afternoon from Fortress Monroe—the Wabash taking the lead, when a gun was fired as a signal, the Curlew bringing up the rear. The vessels, about seventy in number, formed in line a few rods down the road and went between the capes in splendid style. The [illegible] and [illegible] Express have in tow the Vanderbilt, Great Republic, Illinois, and Golden Eagle. The morning was most beautiful and the scene the finest ever witnessed in this country.

WASHINGTON, Oct. [illegible].—The case of suspension of habeas corpus by order of the President, in regard to soldiers in the army more particularly, came up in Court to-day.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The steamer Columbia, arrived from Havana, brings news that things looked quite warlike there. A large fleet was fitting out for Mexico. The English Minister had called on the rebel Commissioners, in full uniform, and presented them to the Captain General. The captain of a privateer, lately arrived at Havana.

News Items.

A rebel takes to stealing as naturally as a cat takes to milk. Take as instances Floyd, late of the War Department at Washington, and Scott, late Consul at Rio Janeiro—both Virginians—both [illegible] of the Old Dominion aristocracy; and both ardent despisers of the "greasy mechanics" of the north.

The Norfolk (Va.) Day Book says there is an organization at the North calling themselves "The Devoted Band," whose mission it is to set fire to the Northern cities whenever it shall seem to be justified on the principle of retaliation.

Mulligan offered to meet Price on an open field, one to four. But Price begged to be excused. Ten to one is his gait; and it is "ten to one" if he ever ventures out without any less advantage.

The Boston Post says—Already it is stated that Government work is fully employing seventy New England mills, and that the dry goods alone now contracted for and in course of production, are estimated at twenty millions of dollars.

Henry Magraw, recently a prisoner at Richmond, passed through Washington, and reports that Charles L. Scott, formerly a member of Congress from California, was wounded severely in the thigh at the battle of Bull Run.

Breckinridge has fled like a thief. Failing to compromise the loyalty of his State—his villainies unanswered, his treason exposed—he escapes popular vengeance by taking to his heels. The Advertiser has not found time to notice the departure of his traitor friend.

Brigadier General Pierce, late commanding at Big Bethel, Va., is now serving as a private soldier in Fletcher Webster's regiment, thus giving the strongest evidence of his devotion to his country.

The Overland Telegraph line is a long one; but in Europe, there is one still longer. That from London to Taganrog, a Russian port on the sea of Azof, is twenty-five hundred miles long. It was opened in August last, and the operators—one on the sea of Azof, and the other in London—passed the compliments of the day; and the signals were instantaneous and perfectly distinct. But if we add to our line the distance between St. Louis and New York, our line will be longer by several hundred miles than the great European line.

The rates of Telegraphing on the Overland Route, are thus given in the Sacramento Bee: To New York city, for the first ten words, $8.75; to Boston, $9; to Washington, $8.75; Philadelphia, $8.75; to the above must be added 60 cents for every subsequent word; to St. Louis, $7; Cincinnati, $7.15; Chicago, $6.60. To the last named, add fifty cents for each subsequent word.

The Pittsburgh Dispatch has some rare news from Oregon. It says that "A dispatch from Oregon announces that the settlers are coming into Dallas from the Valley of Yanaretta, and that it was believed the Indians would drive the miners, five hundred in number, from the country of the Nose Pitches." Ah!

Letter of Col. Baker.

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] Baker. [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] Advance, [illegible]

MY DEAR SIR: The [illegible] ever [illegible] agitating the [illegible] military [illegible] my excuse for [illegible] on [illegible]. Again [illegible] interest you particularly [illegible] all this [illegible] the war news, which [illegible] more extended and [illegible] the nature of this [illegible] I could possibly give you [illegible].

A great battle is [illegible] whatever position I [illegible] in the [illegible] contest, you may rest assured that the State of Oregon shall have no cause to [illegible] of any action.

You have doubtless [illegible] of my appointment by the President as a Brigadier General. My duty to the State of Oregon, in my opinion, is such that I have felt compelled to decline the honor.

Yesterday, I had conferred upon me an additional honor, in the shape of an appointment as Major General, but actuated by the same motive as decided me in the former instance, I shall decline this position also.

I am very conscious of the necessity of a military force in Oregon, for various reasons, and I am to-day maturing a plan which I intend submitting to the President and Secretary of War for their approval—by which I hope that a force sufficient for all purposes will be raised in Oregon.

While I am writing this, your letter of Aug. 23d arrived. * * * In relation to the Senatorship, be pleased to say to every one, once for all, that I value the station conferred upon me by the State of Oregon more highly than anything in the world—that I do not intend to vacate or resign.

I shall still remain [illegible] enough in the field to enable me to [illegible] my [illegible] with honor. With that I am content. I have strong hopes that by next summer this war will be successfully terminated—the unity of the country maintained—and the supremacy of the Constitution vindicated. How happy shall I be then to return to your beautiful valleys, and give to our people an account of this great contest! But if Providence should will it otherwise, and my bones moulder on a Southern soil, be pleased then to say for me that no man can be more grateful for the confidence of the people of my State, and the warm wishes of so many good friends, than your very sincere friend,

E. D. BAKER.

☞ Coughs.—The sudden changes of our climate are sources of PULMONARY, BRONCHIAL, and ASTHMATIC AFFECTIONS. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stages of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Lozenges, let the Cold, Cough, or Irritation of the Throat be ever so slight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off. A TERRIFIC BOMBARDMENT.—Major Andrews and Capt. Barron, two of the Confederate officers captured at Fort Hatteras, have just made reports to their Government of the surrender of the forts lately under their command. Both reports testify to the accurate aim taken by our guns and the terrific shower of shot and shell which rained upon Fort Hatteras on the second day. We copy Major Andrews' description, as follows:

"At 7.40 o'clock A. M. of the 29th the enemy opened fire on us from the steam-frigate Minnesota, (43 guns,) Wabash, (44 guns,) Susquehannah, (15 guns,) frigate Cumberland (24 guns) steamer Pawnee, (10 guns) and Harriet Lane, (5 guns,) and a rifled battery of three guns erected in the sand hills three miles east of Fort Clark. Thus you will see they brought seventy-three guns of the most approved kind and heaviest metal to bear on us—the shells thrown being 9-inch, 10-inch, 11-inch Dahlgren, Paixhan, and Columbiad; while, from the position taken, we were unable to reach them with the greatest elevation. The men of the channel battery were ordered to leave their guns and protect themselves as well as possible, the council of the commanding officers having decided that it was to be an action of endurance until our reinforcements came up. After a few shots had been fired, and it was ascertained that we could not reach them, our guns ceased fire, and only answered the fire of the enemy occasionally, to show we had not surrendered. The shower of shell in half an hour became literally tremendous, as we had falling into and immediately around the works not less, on an average, than ten each minute, and, the sea being smooth, the firing was remarkably accurate. One officer counted twenty-eight shells falling so as to damage us in one minute, and several others counted twenty in a minute. At a quarter to eleven o'clock a council of the officers was held, and it was determined to surrender. A white flag was raised, and the firing ceased at 11 o'clock. Thus for three hours and twenty minutes Fort Hatteras resisted a storm of shells perhaps more terrible than ever fell upon any other works. At the time the council determined to surrender two of our guns were dismounted, four men were reported killed, and between twenty-five and thirty badly wounded. One shell had fallen into the room adjoining the magazine, and the magazine was reported on fire. It is useless to attempt a further description. The men generally behaved well. Nearly every commissioned officer, from the Commodore down, was more or less wounded, and fifty or sixty of the non-commissioned officers and men, who would not report to the surgeon."

Address, DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, San Francisco.

Of all diseases the first great cause
Springs from neglect of Nature's laws.

To the Afflicted:

Suffer not when a cure is guaranteed in all stages of secret diseases, Self-Abuse, Nervous Debility, Syphilis in all its stages, [illegible] Gravel, Diabetes, diseases of the [illegible] Loss of Memory, Loss of Power [illegible]

[illegible] its, ulcers, eruptions and other affections of the nose, throat and lungs, entailing upon themselves years of suffering, and consigning them to an early grave.

[illegible] is another formidable enemy to health, for [illegible] in the dread catalogue of human diseases [illegible] so direct upon the system—drawing its thousands of victims through a few years of suffering down to an untimely grave. It destroys the nervous system, rapidly wastes away the energies of life, causes mental derangement, prevents the proper development of the system, disqualifies for marriage, society, business, and all earthly happiness, and leaves the sufferer wrecked in body and mind, predisposed to consumption and a train of evils more to be dreaded than death itself. With the fullest confidence I assure the unfortunate victims of self-abuse, that a permanent and speedy cure can be effected, and with the abandonment of ruinous practices, my patients can be restored to robust, vigorous health.

Irregularities and all diseases of males and females treated on principles established by fifteen years of practice, and sanctioned by thousands of the most remarkable cures. Medicines with full directions sent to any part of the State of Oregon and Washington Territory, by patients communicating their symptoms by letter.

All business correspondence strictly confidential. Address DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, Medical Institute, Sacramento street, below Montgomery, opposite Pacific Mail Steamship Co.'s Office, San Francisco.

Remarkable Instance of Medical Relief.

Below we publish the certificates of three of the many victims of the ravages of disease, who, having recovered their former health, and impelled by gratitude, make known their cases and remedial agent, and their statements are authenticated by a Notary Public. Though [illegible] demanded their publicity, and we commend them to the perusal to the attention of all afflicted:

CERTIFICATE.—The undersigned, desirous of acquainting those who may be unfortunate enough to be similarly affected, where a permanent relief of their suffering may be obtained, feels it his duty to thus publicly express his sincere gratitude to Dr. L. J. Czapkay, for the entire recovery of his health. Borne down by the [illegible] symptoms incident to the vicious practices of [illegible] passion in youth, depressed in body and mind, unable to perform even the most trifling duty imposed upon the ordinary avocations of life, I sought the advice of many physicians, who at first regarded my disease as of little importance—but alas! after a few weeks, and in several instances months of their treatment, I found, to my unspeakable horror, that instead of relief, my symptoms became more alarming in their torture; and being told by some, my disease being principally confined to the brain, medicine would be of little consequence, I despaired of ever regaining my health, strength and energy; and as a last resort, with but a faint hope, called upon Dr. Czapkay, who, after examining my case, prescribed some medicine which almost instantly relieved me of the dull pain and [illegible] in my head. Encouraged by the result, I resolved to place myself immediately under his care, and by a strict obedience to all his directions and advice, my head became clear, my ideas collected, the constant pain in my back and groins, weakness of my limbs, the nervous reaction of my whole body on the slightest alarm or excitement, [illegible] and evil forebodings, the self-distrust and want of confidence in others, the incapability to study, and want of resolve, the frightful, exciting, and at times pleasurable dreams at night, followed by involuntary discharges, have all disappeared; and in fact, in two months after having consulted the doctor, I felt as if inspired by a new life—that life which but a short time ago I contemplated to end by my own hand. With the view to guard the unfortunate from falling into the snares of incompetent quacks, I deem it my duty to offer this testimony to the merit and skill of Dr. Czapkay, and recommend him to all who may stand in need of medical advice, being assured by my own experience, that under his care a radical and permanent cure will be effected.

DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, San Francisco—Sir: I have taken the last of your medicine, and do not think I shall want any more, as I feel very well, except that I have not quite got my strength yet, but soon will with the [illegible] It is just three weeks, you may recollect, since I visited your institute, with my constitution, as I thought, broken entirely, and never thought you would be able to cure me perfectly, but thought you might be able to do something to ease the pain in my back and head, and strengthen my nerves, so that I would not get excited and [illegible] at everything. Now that you know what I was, you may judge of my satisfaction at my complete [illegible] of the symptoms, and the removal of those sores and blotches from my skin, and the ulcers from my throat, and the stoppage of those emissions, which you said were the whole cause of my sickness. I can hardly tell you which is greatest, my joy or my surprise, for, except a little, I have got my strength. I feel as well as any man living.

Enclosed I send you twenty dollars over your charge, as I think myself cheaply cured. If you think anybody will be benefited, you may put this letter in the [illegible] I have me gratefully yours,

CERTIFICATE.—Prompted by an honest desire [illegible] I wish to lay before the public a case which [illegible] recommendation, not only as an act of scientific skill but of humanity also. About two years ago, I suddenly, and from causes unknown to me, was seized with a fit of [illegible] which, owing to my inability to meet the expenses [illegible] upon a thorough medical treatment, and the discouragement which I met with on attempting it, soon became such (as I was then led to believe) as to defy the skill of [illegible] physician. I was frequently, while in [illegible] thrown down to the ground without the slightest warning, and although insensible to the agonies, I yet [illegible] the miseries of my life, and soon learned to look upon [illegible] would render assistance or shelter me from danger [illegible] ones who sought to prolong the existence of my [illegible] While in this state, and having, previous to my illness, tasted the sweets of life, I once more was induced to [illegible] seeking aid of a physician, and, by recommendation, [illegible] upon Dr. L.
